

Qualcomm is committed to the highest standards of ethical conduct and abides by all applicable anti-corruption laws in countries where we conduct business. As part of our continual effort to maintain this commitment, we are collecting the following information to ensure compliance with the U.S. Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA)*, and the Korea Anti-Graft Act. Please be assured that the information is used for internal compliance control and reporting purposes only.

1. Your Name:

2. Are you employed by a State-Owned or Controlled (Government) enterprise, universities or Public International Organization (e.g. government policy boards, certain standards bodies, etc.)? Yes or No:

If Yes, please provide below information for all position(s):

- Name of the organization #1
- Your title and a brief description of your responsibilities:
- Is this a decision-making role, or a role with potential to influence a policy decision?
- Is this a paid or unpaid position?

=====

- Name of the organization #2 (if needed)
- Your title and a brief description of your responsibilities:
- Is this a decision-making role, or a role with potential to influence a policy decision?
- Is this a paid or unpaid position?

3. Are you being referred to this program by a “foreign official”, or are you related to a “foreign official”? Yes or No:*

If Yes, please provide below information:

- Name and job title of the foreign official:
- Name of the government agency the foreign official is employed by or affiliated with:
- Does the foreign official hold a decision-making role or have potential to influence a policy decision?
- What is the relationship (e.g. spouse, mother, father, siblings, etc) between you and the foreign official?

I certify, to the best of my knowledge, my responses to the above questions are correct.

I. Yes or No:

II. Date:

III. Signature:

* The “FCPA” is a United States federal law which (1) makes it illegal to provide anything of value, directly or indirectly, to a foreign official for the purpose of securing an improper advantage; and (2) requires the Company to have accurate books and records and effective internal accounting controls. Qualcomm strictly complies with the FCPA and all other applicable Anti-Corruption laws in countries where we conduct business.

 Foreign Official definition under FCPA and Korea Anti-Graft Act:

- Under FCPA, “Foreign Official” is defined as an officer, employee or agent of the Government, an employee of a state owned or controlled entity (“State Owned Entity”), or an officer or employee of a Public International Organization (i.e. International Telecommunications Union, World Intellectual Property Organization, United Nations). A State-Owned Entity includes public or national universities.
- Under Korea Anti-Graft Act “Public Official” is defined as above and include employees of any private or public schools or media companies.